Nebraska's First Civil Rights Demonstrators March In City

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's first civil rights demonstrators conducted a solemn and orderly march 9 blocks through downtown Lincoln Friday afternoon in an effort to dramatize America's racial tension problems.

One hundred and forty-seven marchers—students, teachers, housewives, businessmen, ministers and a few children—walked from the Nebraska Historical Society to the State Capitol in 3 block-long files spread street-wide.

More white persons marched than Negroes.

The march was a "protest and sympathy" combination of action planned by private citizens against racial discrimination and the legislative double-ax of fair housing and employment bills and the Lincoln NAACP chapter's memorial tribute march to Medgar Evers, assassinated Negro leader.

Armbands Worn

Some marchers wore black armbands in memory of Evers. Some carried black flags. About 30 signs protested both southern and northern discrimination.

An estimated 100 persons and Omaha Sen. Edward R. Danner met the marchers at the Capitol's west entrance beneath the bowed-head statue of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, for whom the city was named.

No incidents marred the demonstration enroute or at the Capitol save a reported two eggs thrown and a catcall from a worker in an open window near 13th and M—"Go home, nigger lover!"

In speaking to the demonstration at the Capitol steps, Danner said, "We have a great heritage of freedom and equality for all men, we say.

Awaits Realization

"We call it 'the American way of life,' yet I cannot avoid the knowledge that the American ideal still awaits complete realization."

Danner told the group, mostly young persons, that they were the state senators of tomorrow, "the ones who will make this Constitution of ours a reality."

Danner emphasized that over 10,000 non-whites live in Nebraska outside of Omaha, and 6,000 outside of Lincoln.

"It appears they suffer more discrimination than their fellow non-whites in urban areas," he said in objecting to the Legislature's thumbs-down on his fair employment and housing bills.

The fair employment practices bill was killed on final reading and Danner himself requested the death of the fair housing bill because enforcement procedures had been killed.

Without reciprocal recognition of basic rights and a guaranteed equality of opportunity, Danner said, freedom becomes an illusion.

Referee Clashes

"Thus the only aristocracy that is consistent with the free way of life is an aristocracy of talent and achievement."

Danner urged that federal or state government "must referee clashes which arise among the freedoms of citizens, and protect each citizen in enjoyment of the maximum freedom to which he is entitled."

He dismissed the assemblage by reading Psalms 121 and 67. Throughout his address and remarks the crowd of 250 stood attentive and solemn, some with bowed heads, some with sad faces.

The earlier march saw scores of curious bystanders watching along the route, many from building windows.

A police escort preceded and followed the trek.

Vatican City (P) — The College of Cardinals elected Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini the 262nd Pope of the Roman Catholic Church Friday, placing its future policy in the hands of a dynamic progressive. He will be crowned a week from Sunday.

The new supreme pontiff of the world's half billion Catholics took the name Paul VI. That clearly emphasized his dedication to the principles of world peace and Christian unity.

The deep-voiced Campanone, master bell of St. Peter's, led the bells of the hundreds of churches in Rome in carols of triumph, while more than 100,000 persons in vast St. Peter's Square roared out their delight.

Insured

The election of 65-year-old Cardinal Montini by a solemn, secret conclave of 80 cardinals, seemed to insure continuation of the precedent-making policies of John XXIII, who died 18 days ago.

The new Pope, who had been archbishop of Milan for 8 years, is a skilled diplomat who served Pope Pius XII as pro-secretary of state. He also worked closely with the successor to Pius during the 4 years 7 months of Pope John's reign. He supported Pope John's efforts to bring Christians together and reach new arrangements for the faithful in Communist-ruled countries.

On Sunday, June 30, Pope Paul will receive the glittering 3-tiered tiara encrusted with precious gems and topped by the golden orb and cross.

The coronation ceremony, the most brilliant in Christendom, will come one day after the feast day of St. Peter and St. Paul. Vatican officials, announcing the date, said that June 30 is a day most particularly connected with the memory of St. Paul.

To Meet JFK

President Kennedy is expected to arrive in Italy on June 30 on his European tour. The first Catholic chief executive of the United States is expected to meet the new Pope on July 2. The two often have expressed similar views.

Shortly after Pope Paul's election, the President sent him a message on behalf of the United States wishing him "long years of leadership in the cause of peace and good will so nobly advanced by your great predecessor."

The new Pope, a vigorous yet tranquil man with blue eyes and iron-gray hair, was the acknowledged favorite when the 80 cardinals locked themselves into the conclave area Wednesday. Thus, he proved an exception to the Vatican adage that "he who enters the conclave as Pope comes out as cardinal," meaning that favorites seldom are chosen.

Keeps Cicognani

The new Pope quickly made his first appointment, and it seemed to be significant of his intentions. He named Amleto Cardinal Cicognani as his secretary of state, the next most important Vatican post. Cardinal Cicognani had served Pope John in that post and was active in planning last fall's ecumenical council, considered the outstanding event of Pope John's reign.

The new pontiff himself scheduled his first broadcast to the world over Vatican Radio for Saturday.

A dam of suspense broke for a flood of jubilation after thick white smoke spiraled from a little chimney atop the Sistine Chapel the signal that a new Pope had been selected.

Nuns Run

Crowds swarmed down the broad Via Della Conciliazione into St. Peter's Square, and soon the square was choked with more than 100,000 happy people. Nuns in nearby streets hitched their skirts to ankle level and ran pell-mell toward the square. School girls recited the rosary. Vendors squirmed through the crowd, quickly selling out their stocks of straw hats to protect the spectators from the sun.

It was the first day of a new summer and the first day of the reign of a new pontiff. Tens of thousands of eyes were trained upon the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica.

The doors were thrown open, and Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, pro-dean of the College of Cardinals, announced in Latin:

"Nuntio vobis gaudium magnum: Habemus papam." —"I announced to you tidings of great joy. We have a Pope."

Thunderous

A thunderous roar swelled up from the crowd. Suddenly, an expectant hush fell over the square. The cardinal's voice came again over the loud speakers:

"He is my most eminent lord, the Lord Cardinal Giovanni Battista—"

The crowd was ahead of him. "Montini! Montini!" thousands shouted.

Repeated

Cardinal Ottaviani raised his hands, as if begging for silence. The crowd hushed again. He pronounced the name Montini, but his voice seemed to crack with emotion and he had to repeat it.

"He has chosen to reign under the name of Paul VI."

"Paolo, Paolo!" the crowd roared. "Viva il Papa Paolo."

The papal banner of John XXIII was unfurled slowly from the balcony, the last official appearance of the crest of tower and lion at a public ceremony.

Appears

Tense minutes went by. Then Pope Paul VI appeared on the balcony. He had been supreme pontiff for just one hour. He stepped onto a wooden stand, his hands folded in front of him, as though in prayer, while 100,000 voices shouted in exultation.

Clad in papal robes of white, with white skullcap, a gold-embroidered papal stole over his shoulders, he was a figure of imposing dignity. For just an instant, the voice of the new Pope shook with emotion, but then it became firm and strong.

Paul VI chanted the ritual of the blessing, "urbis et orbis"—to the city of Rome and the world. He raised his right hand slowly, and, making the sign of the cross, said in a clear voice: "We bless thee in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost."

Rolling 'Amen'

A rolling thunder of "Amen" came up from the crowd. To the echo of a continuous roar, the new Pope, after 5 minutes, disappeared through the balcony and repaired to his cell for meditation.

The crowd was told the new Pope had granted all present a full indulgence, by which the church means remission before God of temporal punishment due for sins.

Cardinal Montini's election was accomplished either on the 5th or 6th ballot of his fellow members in the college.

Boy Assaulted

Police early Saturday were searching for 3 teen-age boys in a car, one of whom assaulted another teenager on 13th between O and N shortly after midnight. The injured boy, who was struck in the face, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

McNamara Raps Defense Bill Slice

... MADE BY HOUSE UNIT

Washington (P) — The House Appropriations Committee voted a $2-billion slash in the defense money bill Friday and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara promptly protested.

Four hours after the committee's recommendations were announced, McNamara issued a statement saying they would force cutting back armed services strength by about 60,000 men and would deny necessary tactical air support "for our combat-ready divisions."

The committee recommended a $47,092,209,000 defense budget for the 12 months starting July 1. It said this would give the United States "military superiority over any other power."

Bookkeeping

It is $1,922,038,000 less than President Kennedy asked and $1,257,873,500 less than the Defense Department received in the current year. But the committee said more than half of the cut is in the bookkeeping area and that none of the money denied is needed for essential activity at this time.

But McNamara disagreed, although the committee accepted the manpower total for the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines at 2,695,000 as the administration requested. It cut the funds asked to support that force by $140 million to a total of $13.2 billion.

McNamara said this will mean cutting the forces by 60,000. Also, he said, proposed reductions in procurement of Air Force tactical fighter planes "would deny us necessary tactical support for our combat-ready divisions." The Defense Department said he was referring to a $25-million cut in development funds for the RF4C, a 1,600-mile-an-hour reconnaissance Phantom plane used by both the Air Force and Navy.

The defense chief expressed pleasure that the House committee decided not to provide the extra funds authorized—over his objections—for developing the controversial 2,000-mile-an-hour RS70 reconnaissance-strike bomber. The Pentagon wants to hold it down to developing 3 prototype planes not combat-equipped.

State Department, Rival Exile Group Belittle Commando Thrust Into Cuba

Miami, Fla. (P) — Both the State Department and a rival exile group Friday belittled the Cuban Revolutionary Council's commando thrust into Cuba as a minor and harmful operation.

The State Department said the council may have put a few men ashore and it criticized "inaccurate" statements that "deceive and frustrate the hopes of anti-Castro elements" inside Cuba.

And the Revolutionary Unity Movement (UR), a large anti-Castro group which pulled out of the council last April, called the operation a publicity stunt.

Handful

The UR said its checks with the Cuban underground showed that the council operation was nothing but "a minor activity by a handful of men."

"The UR decries uncoordinated, haphazard raids made for obvious publicity purposes," the statement said. "These activities hamper major coordinated operations of the organized underground forces carrying the true load of the Cuban struggle."

"They also jeopardize the collection of intelligence leading to accurate denunciations of free world sea trade with Communist Cuba and of Soviet military personnel and equipment entrenched on the island."

Backed Down

The council backed down Friday after claiming that a broadcast from inside Cuba came from its own commandos.

It had announced its commando forces would broadcast at 1 p.m.

Independent monitoring stations heard a voice on the expected wave length: "MRR, MRR, hello, hello. This is the commando station. This is the commando station."

The voice ceased, then resumed in a badly garbled broadcast:

"We have received a great

Heard Feb. 17

The Associated Press listening post in Key West Fla., also monitored this broadcast and said it apparently came from the same "Army of liberation" which has been heard in similar broadcasts dating back to Feb. 17.

Told of this, Manuel de Varona, leader of the council, said he was mistaken when he took the later broadcast as being from his commandos. The council radio monitors apparently did not hear the earlier broadcast.

Press Officer Richard I. Phillips of the State Department in Washington told newsmen that small numbers of infiltrators, probably fewer than 50, may have entered Cuba in the past two or three weeks.

Pope Paul Known As 'Bishop Of The Workers'

Vatican City (P)—To the people of Milan, Pope Paul VI is "the bishop of the workers," a prelate who donned a miner's helmet to see how the men in the pits work to earn their daily bread.

That is one of the things the new pope did as Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini, archbishop of Milan—an industrial center where the Communists are strong.

He is a blue-eyed, gray-haired man of moderate height with a trim figure. Much of the time he has an intense look on his face, dominated by black eyebrows and a prominent Roman nose.

It is the look of a man who has a reputation for deep thought—as reflected in his many public writings and speeches as a cardinal.

Comparisons

Inevitably there are comparisons with his predecessor, Pope John XXIII, whose progressive policies he is expected to continue.

Physically there was little likeness between the two. Pope John weighed over 200 pounds, had a jovial mein and the heavy features and husky build that told of his peasant ancestry.

Pope Paul is a slender man who was sometimes sickly as a child. He has the grace and carriage that reflect his diplomatic training and the boyhood in the well-to-do home of his cultured journalist father.

Same Ideals

Both popes shared the same ideals, and Pope Paul has the training and determination to carry them on.

Pope Paul will receive President Kennedy on July 2. He has already met one former American president. As Cardinal Montini he went to South Bend, Ind., a year ago and received an honorary degree from Notre Dame University. Dwight D. Eisenhower received an honorary degree in the same ceremony. The two met, shook hands and talked.

Pope Paul has behind him the broad, pastoral experiences of 8 years as archbishop of Milan—most important diocese in Italy after Rome.

Mixed Well

When he went there on a rainy winter day after years in the Vatican secretariat of state, some wondered how he would mix with the people in the working class districts of industrial north Italy. Despite his shyness and sometimes aloof manner, he mixed well.

One of his first visits there was to the convicts in the city jail, just as Pope John, a few years later, visited Rome's Regina Coeli (Queen of Heaven) Prison soon after his coronation.

As archbishop, Montini went himself to the working districts of Milan and talked persuasively and amiably to labor groups packed with Communists.

He went time and again to carry the appeal of Roman Catholicism to the industrial suburb, Sesto San Giovanni. It is called Italy's "little Stalingrad" because of its militant Communist population.

Likes Television

Friendly stories about him circulated widely: How

POPE SMILES . . . as he meets cardinals.

Protestants Voice Gratification

By The Associated Press

Protestant leaders voiced wide gratification Friday at the election of Pope Paul VI, considering him a man who would continue the work for Christian unity set by his predecessor, Pope John XXIII.

Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders also hailed the choice of Giovanni Battista Montini as the new pontiff.

It promises "a new day for the continued good relations between Catholics and non-Catholics," said Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord, of Washington, D.C.

Heartened

The Rev. Dr. Ben M. Herbst, president of the United Church of Christ (a recent merger including Congregationalists) said:

"Those of us who are interested in the ecumenical movement and in the unity of Christ's church are greatly heartened that a cardinal who has represented this same point of view has been named."

"We look forward to years of labor together for the strengthening of the unity of all Christendom."

Probably never before in history has there been such keen Protestant concern in a papal election, since it could determine whether the policies of Pope John XXIII for mutual relations with other Christians would continue.

Remarkable

The outcome met with remarkably warm response. The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Dr. Silas G. Kessler, the denomination's moderator, said of the new pope:

"We rejoice in the hope that he, following in the footsteps of his beloved predecessor, Pope John XXIII, will seek ways to strengthen the cause of unity and peace in the days that lie ahead."

The comment was in a message of "heartiest congratulations" sent to Augustin Cardinal Bea, head of the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

Excellent

The Rev. Dr. Douglas Horton, retired dean of Harvard Divinity School, who was a Protestant observer at the second Vatican council, said it was "an excellent choice."

"He is an outstanding man and I have no doubt now that the Vatican council will go on as planned."

From Jewish leaders, too, came expressions of approval. Rabbi Maurice M. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, said:

"... Those responsible for this choice have selected a successor who seemingly represents a continuation of the spiritual depth and broad social outlook for which his predecessor was so universally loved."

From Roman Catholic bishops came a stream of approving reaction.

Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan, of Baltimore, said the election "seems to insure the advancement of the policies" of the new pope's two immediate predecessors.

Continuation

Bishop Daniel J. Feeney, of Portland, Me., said "we can look forward to continuation of the progressive activities of the church under his holiness Pope Paul VI."

Archbishop Thomas J. Toolen, of Mobile-Birmingham, Ala.: "The new pope is an exceptionally brilliant man . . . I am sure that he will carry on the great work of Pope John . . ."

Experienced

Archbishop Thomas A. Boland, of Newark, N.J.: "Cardinal Montini . . . is a man of eminent capability, an experienced diplomat, a wise administrator and a great Christ-like shepherd of souls . . ."

While Roman Catholic leaders might have been expected to commend the new pope, it was the extraordinarily warm reaction from Protestants that added the dramatic note.

In San Francisco, Protestant Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike said the Roman Catholic Church had picked "just the right person to carry on with breadth, contemporaneity and love of all Christians and of all mankind the wonderful work of renewal which marked the pontificate of the beloved late John XXIII."

Methodist Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy, of Los Angeles, said "I am thrilled personally with the elevation of this great liberal leader . . . May all of Christendom come into closer unity through the ministry of the newly chosen vicar of Christ."

he seemed to remember everyone's name; he enjoyed television and sat up late chuckling over the quiz show, or intently following bicycle races for which he was an enthusiastic fan.

They even remembered that when he came to Milan to take up his post as archbishop he brought along only 3 suitcases. They contained all his worldly goods except his big collection of books which he crated and sent on ahead of him.

Returning to the Apostolic Palace as Pope was almost like coming home for him.

Administrator

For years he had lived in apartments here as substitute secretary of state and later pro-secretary of state under Pope Pius XII. He was recognized as a top-flight administrator.

Even in those days he was known as an early riser who liked to stay up after midnight, working or reading. There was a saying around the Vatican: "The last light to go off at night is the one in Montini's studio."

He was born Sept. 26, 1897, in Concesio, near the northern Italian city of Brescia.

Once Refused

The man who became pope refused only 10 years ago to become a cardinal.

Pope Pius XII said at the 1953 consistory that he had wanted to make Montini a cardinal, but that Montini pleaded against it. He said he could serve better in the secretariat of state.

It was a year later that Pope Pius sent him to Milan as archbishop. He received the red hat of cardinal from Pope John 4 years after that, in December, 1958.

Europe Welcomes Election Of Paul VI

London (P)—Europe welcomed the election of Pope Paul VI Friday as a worthy successor to the Vatican throne. Praise was almost universally joined with expressions of hope that he will follow the reformist policies of Pope John XXIII.

Unusually speedy notice was taken by Moscow radio, which told Russian listeners: "The new pope has declared he intends to adhere to the policy pursued by his predecessor."

Rejoicing

Most Spaniards, and their neighbors in Portugal, greeted the news of the new pope with rejoicing.

In the streets of Paris, the reaction was also favorable. A woman shopkeeper smiled and said: "That is a very good choice. I understand Cardinal Montini intends to follow up the work of Pope John, and that is a work of peace."

Guy Mollet, chief of the French Socialist Party, which is both Marxist and anticlerical, remarked that as Cardinal Montini the new pope was known as one of Pope John's "faithful." He added: "We salute with hope the arrival of Paul VI."

The influential newspaper Le Monde predicted the new son to Pope John." The archbishop of York, Dr. Frederick Coggan, commented:

President Charles de Gaulle sent a message to Pope John saying:

"Uniting my joy to that of all Christianity, I beg your holiness to accept my very hearty congratulations on the occasion of your elevation to the throne of Saint Peter."

West Germany's two major political parties issued statements welcoming the choice.

The ruling Christian Democrats called it a good one. The Social Democrats expressed hope that "Pope Paul VI's rule may contribute toward giving the world peace."

Hailed In Britain

The Protestant leadership of Britain quickly sent congratulations, led by Queen Elizabeth II and Prime Minister Macmillan.

Dr. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury and Anglican primate of England, sent a message of greeting "on your election as successor."

University of Nebraska graduate student Jerry Behringer, one of the community organizers of the protest last of the march, called its purpose "to dramatize the situation."

Behringer spoke to the group before the walk began, and asked for exemplary conduct to avoid trouble. Behringer, Lincoln NAACP president Leola Bullock and the pre-march speaker, Pastor Everett Reynolds, led the parade.

The Mulberry Bush

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

When we were kids we used to love the mulberry bush or tree, or at least what we considered one to be. Growing wild in the fields of the countryside, the bush offered an endless delight of choice fruit. It was also the theme of a little tune to which children danced when they were even too young to be out in the fields looking for the berries.

One thing about the little tune and dance has been applied to things in the adult world. You never get anywhere in going around the mulberry bush and in that sense, a lot of adult people continue to play this childish game. Playing it for all it's worth this week is State Republican Chairman Robert Denney of Fairbury. Denney demands to know from Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth why the senator believes the people of his district should not be allowed to vote on the question of returning to a partisan legislature. The question is asked because Senator Ruhnke is one of those state legislators who have signed a statement urging citizens not to sign a petition for a vote on the proposed change to partisanship.

We don't blame Mr. Denney for trying but he has things a little mixed up. He really is not so naive as to believe the situation is quite what he pretends it is. Senator Ruhnke is not opposed to the people's voting on anything if they want to.

What Senator Ruhnke is opposed to is a change to the partisan legislature. The petition for a constitutional decision on the matter is the means for achieving this change so it is also opposed by the senator. The objection, however, is to the partisan legislature, not the right of the people to vote.

Senator Ruhnke just happens to be one of the more capable members of the Legislature and it is somewhat of a shame that those who are now so worked up over the change in form of government are not more active when it comes to getting more men like Senator Ruhnke in the Legislature. What is wrong with the Legislature is not going to be cured by a change to partisanship. For one thing, this would give no assurance at all of any better caliber senator and a substantial part of the problem is that too many senators lack the capacity to do the job expected of them.

Building Levy Change

It is by no means a fatal blow struck the cause of new physical plant facilities for state institutions by the budgetary change proposed in the Legislature but it could be a blow of sorts. The Budget Committee of the Legislature has actually increased funds for institutional buildings but it has changed, or recommended a change, in the appropriation process.

In past years, the state has had a 1.1 special mill levy to finance construction of buildings for educational and other institutions in the state. The Legislature has set the percentage of distribution of the funds among the institutions and the institutions themselves have determined where they would use their funds.

With the proposed change, the levy

Flood Of Memories

Many older Nebraskans experienced a flood of soft memories when they read that Fairbury is laboring over a decision whether to repair and restore its old Chautauqua tabernacle or just wipe it off the face of the earth.

There is not much use for a sagging old tabernacle these days and no one can say much of a word for them as a thing of grace and beauty. They were roughly built affairs, mostly roof, open sides, a sand floor, wooden benches and a stage nailed together out of lumber.

That's the way they were at the turn of the century. But that isn't what they were. They were the heart and soul of almost every principal Nebraska community during the most breath-taking week of the year — generally the hottest and driest week of the year. Their stages were a beachhead of art, talent, culture and sophistication in a day when it was too far for one to hitch up the surrey and visit the world. The world had come to you. And it didn't come very often.

Rerouting River For Carter Lake

From The Des Moines Register

An Iowa House subcommittee, which made a report to the Iowa Legislature on the Nebraska-Iowa boundary dispute, suggested that the Missouri River channel be changed so Carter Lake would be on the east side of the river and safely in Iowa.

In an editorial on this subject we dealt rather lightly with the suggestion and said it would cost "umpteen millions" of dollars. Representative Chester Hougen (Rep., Black Hawk County), in a letter on this page, takes us to task for our "umpteen millions" expression and thinks we misrepresented the situation.

This could be helped if people like Mr. Denney would be more imaginative and energetic at election time.

Also, just what is it that we would get with a partisan legislature? What does the leadership of either political party in Nebraska offer us at the moment? It offers a solid batch of nothing. Beyond this, it offers us political control of individuals and we can't see that this is much better than that what we have today. What we have today is a legislative timidity born out of individual inadequacy and public uncertainty. The public tends toward regressiveness because it has no leadership and weak public officials fall victim to this public influence.

We certainly do not pretend to have the answer to what we consider the problem in Nebraska and on this score also are subject to criticism but we have no faith in the change to partisanship, supported by both parties in the state. We believe it would accomplish only about the same things as are being done today but in a different way.

The proposal would offer one possible ray of hope. If the people approved a change to partisanship, it could hardly be interpreted as anything other than a desire for more action at the state level of things.

The question, then, is whether the change approved would produce the results anticipated or hoped for from it. It might be argued that the voters of Nebraska put into office the kind of people they want and that they, therefore, approve of the conservative approach to things that we see in Nebraska politics. It could be this way but we doubt it because so much of the conservatism in Nebraska represents nothing more than the protection of small vested interest groups. Also, when more liberal candidates have been defeated at the polls, a small but vocal group of extreme conservatives has often been a deciding factor.

Nebraska appears to be rather evenly divided in political thinking, which is a situation made to order for minority control. Nebraska will assert itself when the situation finally demands it, which is not far distant, but it will be the result of a public awakening, not a manipulation of political machinery.

would go to 1.775, a definite improvement in things, but the Legislature rather than the institutions would determine exactly where the money would be spent. If you favor additional legislative control over spending, then the change would be a good one.

But such control does away with the flexibility that existed in the past. Also, there is a serious question as to whether the Legislature or state administrators are best qualified to make the detailed spending decision involved. The purpose of the automatic special levy was to facilitate long-range planning but institutions would be denied this if they would have to rely each two years on action by the Legislature.

Thousands of sturdy yeomen forsook their work during Chautauqua week, crowded on slow-moving excursion trains and poured in the Chautauqua parks. They listened to the Rooney Boys quartet, the Swiss bellrings, a hoarse-voiced congressman, the moment's leading evangelist. In a nearby grove where the concessions were doing business, the young fry drank tanks of pink lemonade, tried cotton candy for the first time and got introduced to the new century's greatest confection—the original ice cream cone.

On the quieter side of the ground, the WCTU maintained a headquarters and passed out prohibition leaflets to other WCTU members. It was also the one time of year when the city marching band sat down while playing.

It would be nice if it all could be brought back simply by putting new shingles on the old tabernacle. But it is gone forever.

The cost figures Hougen quotes refer to work already done or being done on the river and they are not a good measure of cost of rerouting the channel on a shorter route.

The Army Engineers at Omaha, in a letter to Hougen, had this to say about the navigation channel:

"Our experience has shown that it is usually more economical to stabilize the channel as nearly as possible in its existing trace provided the alignment is satisfactory for navigation. We do not plan to align the channel through Carter Lake."

Since receiving Hougen's letter, we have read the full report of the Iowa subcommittee. We are impressed by its defense of the city of Carter Lake, which the legislators do not want to become part of Nebraska, and amused by the derogatory comments about Omaha and Nebraska:

"There has been a great amount of reporting regarding the unsanitary, slum-like conditions, rowdiness, unlawfulness, etc., of Carter Lake," says the report. "This is a vicious distortion of the truth."

"Most of the criticism seems to be a smoke screen, first to discredit Carter Lake in the eyes of the citizens of Iowa, so that Iowa would give it to Nebraska, and secondly to cover up Omaha's criminal records and slum areas."

This comment may not be entirely pertinent to the boundary dispute. But it reinforces our view that the boundary problem won't be settled in the next few years unless Nebraska recognizes that it isn't going to get Carter Lake even though the center of the river channel is a logical boundary line.

"Be Sure And Drop In, Mr. Kennedy . . . Somebody'll Be Here!"

Individual Rights

Lincoln, Neb.

In your editorial, "The Right To Discriminate," you assume that because even "private" discrimination is wrong, it ought to be made illegal by the Legislature. While I am in complete agreement with you that such a practice is most irrational and ethically indefensible, I cannot agree that the state ought, therefore, to impose itself on those who use this criterion as the basis for their choice of friends, employees or customers. Once we accept the premise that the state has the right to set standards such as these, we make of individual rights mere licenses subject to revocation. The acceptance of this ethic of force would require you to admit equally of the "right" of the state at some future time to dictate that a property owner must discriminate, which would likewise be an invasion of the right of property.

An individual has, by the standard of reason, an obligation only to refrain from initiating force against another. By your standard, this has been turned around to impose upon him an obligation to submit to the force of others. If you really think that a free society can be built upon the right of men to "join together" to deny other men, by force, the right to do with their lives and property as they see fit; if you seriously believe that there is no difference between discrimination by the state (with its monopoly of legal power) and discrimination by the individual (who has no power to force other men to do anything); if you are sincerely dedicated to the proposition that the purpose of government is not to protect us against the force of other men but rather, to become available, to the highest bidder, to help one group of men coerce another, then I would feel inclined to suggest that you, and not Senators Craft, Russillo and others are guilty of "twisted thinking."

All State

Lincoln, Neb.

Apropos the June 18 editorial, "All Staters in Action," which speaks of Boys State and Girls State activities, it seems a pity that so few people seem to know that All State, Girls State and Boys State are three different activities, all of which take place at the university in June.

J.F.K. By-passing France Advisedly

PARIS — France is the country President Kennedy will not visit, and it is generally conceded that this is just as well.

There is nothing to indicate that President Charles de Gaulle plans to change course and shape policies more agreeable to the United States. The unexpectedly high vote of approval he won for his Franco-German friendship and cooperation treaty is seen rather as likely to strengthen his conviction that he has the country behind him.

Even before it occurred, some prominent observers here had committed themselves to the thesis that after De Gaulle goes, Gaulism will stay. This might make things even more difficult for the United States, as no successor has been suggested who has his immense prestige.

The general himself, in a grass-roots tour of western France, has revived talk of a successor and the nation's future. His hints were general and philosophical in tone, but since he has a reputation for calculating his every phrase, they received considerable attention.

One interpretation is that he is starting to prepare the country for the chance that he will not seek re-election.

The general perhaps enjoyed other reasons for the self-congratulatory tenor of his remarks to the French voters. These lie in the newspaper headlines.

For days the United States and Britain have been monopolizing the front pages with racial strife and the Profumo case, respectively. The accompanying photographs have left little to the imagination in either case.

De Gaulle, a northerner, is more inclined to the puritan ethic than most of his countrymen, and even if he were not, the French have often seemed to have more than their share of newsprint devoted to their racial problems and sex scandals in their government. It would be only human for them to derive a certain enjoyment from watching the Anglo-Saxons, as De Gaulle refers to the English and Americans, cope with the present acid embarrassments.

Even the famous British reserve has not been proof against the expression of a certain fellow-feeling for Americans here as day succeeded day with a heavy grist of the appalling details. Nationals of both countries will be happy to have the College of Cardinals taking the play away from them this week.

There seems to be a feeling here also that the Western Alliance is not making gains on the economic and military fronts. American spokesmen at NATO have for some time been transmitting Defense Department complaints that others were not doing their full share in the defense of Europe.

In turn, Europeans profess to see a growing isolationism in congressional criticism of the new foreign aid bill. One visiting Congressman complains that his ears are being bent completely out of shape by complaints. Copyright, 1963, by UF Syndicate, Inc.

DREW PEARSON

Clay's Selection Raises Eyebrows

WASHINGTON — Most interesting passenger in President Kennedy's entourage as he takes off for Germany is Gen. Lucius Clay, the Georgia Democrat turned Republican, who once commanded U.S. troops in Germany.

Those who have closely studied Gen. Clay's operations frankly were mystified. Gen. Clay is the man who admitted in his memoirs that he had made the initial mistake of not negotiating an agreement with Russia giving the United States access rights into Berlin. This is the reason why the Russians and East Germans have controlled the highway into West Berlin and the root cause of all the maneuvering and near war over Berlin.

Furthermore, Gen. Clay, with all his charm and personal magnetism, has the reputation of being more on-again-off-again than any other so-called "friend of the White House."

Here is the record which caused eyebrow-lifting in diplomatic circles when it was learned that Gen. Clay would accompany the President to Germany and Berlin:

1. As postwar commander in Germany, Clay stopped the dismantling of the Nazi war factories, then handed the plants back to the old Nazi cartels. This was in direct contradiction to then American policy, and a surprise to Gen. George Marshall, then chief of staff. Later it contributed to the reason why Truman abruptly accepted Clay's resignation.

2. Though two Democratic presidents, Roosevelt and Truman, had elevated Clay to among the highest commands in the U.S. Army and the Defense Mobilization Board, he turned round to become a brain-truster and booster of Dwight D. Eisenhower, helped raise money for him, later served as "king-maker" for the selection of Ike's cabinet.

Clay was credited with picking George Humphrey to be secretary of the Treasury and Charles E. Wilson of General Motors to be secretary of Defense.

3. Vice President Johnson, not aware of Clay's past fumbles, picked him for a trip to Berlin during the Berlin wall crisis in 1961. Kennedy later sent him back as U.S. representative, where he made more fumbles.

First he held an off-the-record press conference at which he dropped word that the U.S.A. was ready to recognize East Berlin. Next day, following the furor from the West German press, he issued a flat denial. The Kennedy administration then became frozen with that denial.

Next Gen. Clay reinstated military patrols on the Berlin highway as a show of strength. This caused the Russians to bring out a superior show of strength and shoot our patrols off the highways. We bowed. It was a humiliating retreat which no smart commander should have got us into.

Then, when U.S. diplomats refused to show their passports to East German police—though John Foster Dulles previously had OK'd this—Gen. Clay ordered up U.S. tanks.

The Russians retaliated by matching our tanks. It created one of the most dangerous situations of the cold war. The headlines were glorious, but the retreat inglorious. The East Germans are now doing what Clay brought the tanks up to protest against. They are scrutinizing U.S. diplomatic credentials.

This is the retired general whom President Kennedy is taking with him as an adviser on Germany.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Sometimes we feel a little bit like the guy whose gun fell apart and rolled across the floor just as he was about to rob the liquor store.

But, stick 'em up anyway:

(1) Mrs. Lainson has effectively proved just what lawmakers who have been opposed to a partisan legislature have been saying all along.

Parties and party leaders tend to want to control. Dick Marvel was warned in no uncertain terms to submit to that control if he ever wishes to be governor.

State senators could expect to feel the same pressure in a partisan legislature.

We have heard no public clamor for a partisan body. And, in fact, the Republican-sponsored petition campaign in behalf of the partisan idea violates the spirit of the law regarding initiative elections.

We refer to Section 32-709 of the statutes: "All initiative and referendum measures shall be submitted in a non-partisan manner without any indication or suggestion on the ballot that they have been approved or endorsed by any political party or organization."

To be certain, the statute refers to the manner in which initiative measures are presented on the ballot itself, not the petition campaign.

Nevertheless, it is crystal clear that the initiative is intended to be a vehicle for use of the people, not the party.

We would not argue with those who say that the Legislature lacks forceful leadership. But that vacuum can be filled within the Unicameral itself through rules changes, rather than from outside.

It has been argued that political parties have no opportunity to express their wishes in legislative elections or regarding legislation itself.

But we know of no legal bar to party endorsement of legislative candidates. Nor do we know of any prohibition against party leaders contacting legislators to make their views known.

In short, parties now have plenty of opportunity to be heard but they lack the power to control. So be it.

(2) The Legislature has completely disarmed Governor Morrison in his role as potential architect of a civil rights pronouncement by the Governors' Conference.

As chairman of the resolutions committee, Morrison could very well have led the way in hammering out a civil rights statement.

Now if he chooses to attempt to do so, who is going to listen to the governor of a state whose Legislature has turned down fair employment and fair housing legislation within the past week?

Are we blind to the events of the last several months?

For a peek inside the Negro heart, we suggest the 120-page best-seller by James Baldwin, "The Fire Next Time." It's a compelling message of past injustice and future action.

If justice is not to be a prime consideration in the legislative judgments of 1963, then plain old common sense should be. We trod a foolish path.

(3) Perhaps no member of the Legislature is yet running for the governor. But some of them have started to walk awfully fast.

(4) The Legislature has decided that all state employees should give up 1% of their salaries to fund the past service benefits of the proposed state retirement system.

To whom was the "past service" rendered?

It was not rendered to other employees, but to the State of Nebraska. The state should therefore foot the bill. Right?

(5) A Legislative Council public power study committee recommended to the 1963 Legislature the consolidation of major electric generation and transmission agencies in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska, excluding the Omaha area.

An expert study undertaken for the legislative tax committee proposed a state income tax, including the income of intangible property.

Both recommendations were turned down cold by the Unicameral.

Now two of the major proposals for study in the interim prior to the 1965 session are public power, chiefly in the field of generation and transmission, and taxation of intangible property.

We measure our progress in circles.

Brezhnev Gets Key Position; Contender For Nikita's Spot

Moscow (AP) — Leonid Brezhnev, the Soviet Union's bushybrowed figurehead president, was appointed Friday to a key position in the Communist Party Secretariat. The move could make him the dominant contender for the succession to Premier Khrushchev as party chief and possibly as head of the government.

Brezhnev and Ukrainian party boss Nikolai Podgorny were named secretaries of the party in the 4th day of meetings of the Central Committee. Brezhnev, 57, was named a secretary once before—in 1956—but resigned after becoming president of the country.

The Communist leaders meeting in the Kremlin also struck two compromised figures from its membership list. They were Salken Daulev, ex-premier of the Kazakhstan Republic, and Sergei Varantsov, former Soviet army marshal who was demoted for compromising contacts with Oleg Penkovsky, recently executed for espionage.

The Central Committee also heard a report on the bitter Soviet-Chinese quarrel over cold war strategy. Premier Khrushchev also spoke, Izvestia reported Friday night, but withheld the text. Communist sources said the speech consisted mainly of comments on a bitterly worded Chinese letter of last weekend which the Russians angrily refused to publish.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the report on China was delivered by Presidium member Mikhail Suslov, and party secretaries Boris Ponomarev and Yuri Andropov who are scheduled to hold talks July 5 here with a Chinese party delegation.

Podgorny, a bullet-headed member of the Presidium since 1960, has been Khrushchev's top administrator of the Ukraine for the last 6 years.

The 60-year-old Ukrainian party boss became one of the 4 members of the all-powerful Presidium of the committee who also hold jobs in the Secretariat.

The 4 are: Khrushchev, Brezhnev, Podgorny, and Frol R. Kozlov, who is expected to give up his party functions because of his illness.

PUSHINKA . . . shows off her puppies at White House.

Charley Father Of Pushinka's Puppies

Washington (AP) — The White House let it be known Friday that Charley, Caroline Kennedy's Welsh Terrier, is the father of the 4 new puppies born to White House dog Pushinka.

The White House distributed a picture of the fluffy white mother and the 4 puppies, all of them dark like their brown-haired father.

The caption for the picture, as distributed by the White House, said that Pushinka, the two-year-old "no-breed" given to the Kennedys by Soviet Premier Khrushchev in 1961, "is pictured in the White House flower room with her 4 puppies, by Charley, the Kennedys' Welsh Terrier."

"The puppies, two males and two females, will be a week old on Saturday, and their eyes should be opening in the next several days," the caption said.

The puppies have not been named and no decision has been made as to what will be done with them.

East Germany's Reds 'Widen' Wall In Berlin

Berlin (AP)—The Communist regime of East Germany Saturday created forbidden zones on its side of the Berlin wall and elsewhere around West Berlin in a new effort to stop escapes and sever remaining tenuous contacts between Berliners.

One effect of the decrees will be to make it extremely difficult for East Germans other than border guards to catch a glimpse of President Kennedy when he looks at the wall on his visit to West Berlin next Wednesday.

For 76 miles along the border with East Germany the banned zone is 545 yards wide. Along the concrete wall and barbed wire which snakes for 25 miles across Berlin's waist, it is 109 yards wide.

The decrees distributed Saturday morning by the official East German news agency and said the action was taken to "prevent infiltration by enemy elements from West Berlin."

But its effect was to keep East Germans farther away from the barricades and to create a wasteland across which East and West Berliners could not even wave to each other.

It has been increasingly difficult for East Germans to get near the border since the wall was begun in August 1961. The number of escapes has dwindled as the barricades became thicker and as the secret police discovered and stopped up escape routes.

Now, in the harshest measure since the wall itself, the Reds have laid down in bureaucratic detail a system for reducing to a minimum the number of people allowed within sight of the free West.

Nobody can live, work or visit the area without special passes. All foreigners, military or civilian, were barred. An exception was made for the crossing points through the wall provided for West Germans and foreigners. West Berliners cannot go to the Communist-ruled part of the city.

The decrees will bring to a stop almost all normal activity in the prohibited ring around the city.

All cinemas, bars, hotels and boarding houses in the area are to be closed down at once. Camping is banned and the land can be tilled only with special permission. There can be no swimming, fishing or boating on lakes and rivers on the border.

The decrees call on all citizens to denounce to border guards anybody they see flouting the regulations.

Auburn Asks Contract With Teachers College Be Upheld

The City of Auburn Friday filed a suit asking that a contract to furnish electrical power to Peru State Teachers College be declared valid by the Lancaster District Court.

The petition also asks the court to declare the City of Peru has no exclusive rights to furnish power to the college by virtue of LB220 or otherwise.

Named as defendants in the declaratory judgment action are the City of Peru, the Board of Education of the State Normal Schools, City of Nebraska City and the Eastern Nebraska Public Power District.

The suit alleges that the State Board called for bids in 1962 for furnishing power to the college beginning April 20, 1964, when its contract with the City of Peru expires.

Only Auburn, Peru and Nebraska City submitted proposals and on Feb. 28 the proposal of Auburn was accepted by the board and a 5-year contract was executed in March.

In April, 1963, Auburn filed an application with the Department of Water Resources for approval on construction of a transmission line, but LB220 was passed with an emergency clause by the Legislature, depriving the department jurisdiction over the application.

LB220 provides that a municipality with its own electrical system has preference in serving an area outside its corporate limits but within its zoning jurisdiction.

The plaintiff municipality states that Peru contends LB220 forecloses the extension of the transmission line by Auburn and invalidates the Auburn contract with the state agency and has threatened injunction proceedings.

Auburn contends that its contract, executed March 14, is not invalidated by LB220 and does not retroactively give vested rights to Peru to serve the state college, located outside its corporate limits.

The municipality alleges the executed contract will save some $3,000 annually in the electrical bills for the college and the state board is made a defendant as a necessary and interested party.

French, English Easy For Pontiff

Vatican City (AP)—Pope Paul VI speaks fluent French and very good English in addition to Latin and his native Italian.

It is possible the new pontiff will follow the example of many recent popes and gain a working knowledge of several other languages. This will be invaluable for the audiences he grants.

Pope John XXIII studied several languages, including English, during the 4 years and 7 months of his pontificate.

Rickover To Keep Working

Washington (AP)—Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the atomic submarine pioneer, will continue in his Navy job and rank even though he reaches the point of mandatory retirement next winter, Secretary Fred Korth announced Friday night.

Korth said that when Rickover reaches the retirement age of 64 he will be recalled to active duty immediately. This will continue him in his post as director of the nuclear power division of the bureau of ships, at a vice admiral's salary of $20,000 a year.

Rickover was saved from forced retirement a decade ago only by intercession of a Navy secretary and pressure from Congress members.

At that time, he was a captain and had been passed over by a Navy selection board. If passed over a second time, he would have been retired. Under pressure, Rickover was promoted. This extended his career until 1958, when he again faced prospect of being retired. Then he was promoted to vice admiral.

American Dissolves Merger Pact

Washington (UPI)—American Airlines Friday dissolved its merger agreement with Eastern Air Lines and asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to dismiss further proceedings.

The action followed the CAB's rejection Thursday of the two airlines' plan to combine their domestic systems.

American's action also canceled any possible merging of the two carriers' foreign service.

The White House was to have ruled on the CAB's recommendation on that aspect of merger proposal, the biggest the CAB has ever handled.

American President C. R. Smith wrote Eastern Friday that in view of the CAB's action, "it seems advisable to terminate the merger agreement immediately, leaving us both free to make future plans rather than awaiting final decision and attempting to pursue further procedural steps."

Smith told Eastern that American's Board of Directors had directed an end to the Jan. 23, 1962, agreement, which would have created the world's biggest airline. American is the nation's second biggest airline; Eastern is 4th.

American sent a copy of the letter to the CAB, asking that the merger proceeding be dismissed, "since termination of the merger agreement renders the proceeding moot."

Cardinals Dine, Talk With Pope After Selection

Vatican City (AP)—The Roman Catholic conclave that elected Pope Paul VI formally ended at 4:52 p.m. (9:52 a.m. CST) Friday.

The election of the Pope came before noon, but the conclave area remained locked for nearly 6 more hours.

Pope Paul kept the cardinals together in the area so that he could lunch and talk with them.

Pope John, in 1958, kept the cardinals in conclave overnight after his election.

Pictures Are Poor Substitute For Travel

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "Why do you rave so about travel? We've never been out of the state, but we're content. We keep busy with grandchildren, gardening and church work. And we've seen enough pictures of everything from the Grand Canyon to the Taj Mahal to know what they're all about."

A. Seeing the world from pictures is a poor substitute for seeing it with your own eyes, for you miss the great, three-dimensional delight of gazing at its details and noting its variety and changing moods. You also miss the broadening experience of becoming acquainted with the customs and attitudes of people outside your community. But, of course, personal contentment should be everyone's goal, and if you're truly content at home I'm not going to prod you out of your rocker.

Q. "I get very annoyed with my mother who's 82. She lives in a one-room apartment and resists all efforts to improve her life. I've offered to pay the difference if she'll move to a bigger apartment, but she says she's got all the room she needs. And I often give her new dresses or hats, but she puts them away and keeps on wearing her old things unless I come over and dress her myself. Shouldn't she show greater willingness to improve herself?"

A. She's done pretty well for herself in reaching 82, and I think she's entitled to do as she wishes. Habit is a firm master, and by the time we've lived a number of decades we know pretty well what's important to our contentment and what isn't. It's admirable for children to want to help their parents improve, and parents should try to be flexible. But when you grow old you're entitled to a good bit of tolerance from others.

Q. "I think it's a crime the way science keeps some older people alive when they're helpless bed cases, suffering losses of mind and body which make them tantamount to the living dead."

A. You have a point, but I think we're all glad to live in a society where science makes every effort to keep us alive — including those few who are seemingly helpless and have no chance of recovery. It could be pretty shattering to our ideals and sense of confidence if science took an opposing view.

Q. "There's an 80-year-old woman in our town who still goes dancing, talks all the time and flirts with every man she sees. It seems to me she's more of a freak than an example of 'aging successfully.' Don't you agree that folks shouldn't employ a little dignity when they get old?"

A. Dignity is admirable at any age, but what seems dignified to one person may not seem so to another. I personally like to see older people put aside restrictive, conventional behavior and have a good time. I think we need people like the woman you mention to dispel the belief many people harbor that old age is necessarily a gloomy, frail time of life. If I'm still around at 80, I intend to kick my heels as high as I'm able and won't worry too much about whether youngsters approve.

Fairmont Foods Earnings Up 11%

Omaha (AP) — Stockholders of Fairmont Foods Company re-elected all directors at a meeting in Omaha, and directors re-elected all of the president officers save one who is retiring.

The retirement of J. P. MacNamara, assistant treasurer, after 35 years of service was announced. Directors elected W. E. Logan, production manager, to be a vice president.

Stockholders were told that the March-April-May earnings were 40 cents per share, compared to 36 cents for the first quarter of the last fiscal year. The earnings gain of 11.1% was achieved despite the fact sales were practically the same as last year.

Wedding On Friday

At an early evening wedding on Friday, June 21, Miss Judith Anne Umberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Umberger, became the bride of Carlton Bentley Paine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Paine of Grand Island. Dr. William Cascini read the lines of the service at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church.

To Attend Convention

The annual convention of the American Association of University Women will open on Monday at Denver, Colo. Representing the Lincoln Branch will be Miss Mildred Waide, president, and also attending from Lincoln will be Mrs. John B. White, second vice president of the Nebraska Division, AAUW, and a director and past president of the Lincoln Branch.

Miss Linda King, Arlington Heights, Ill.; Miss Carmen Del Llano and Mrs. Edward Banning, Jr.

Nick Verhar served Mr. Paine as best man, and the ushers were Boyd Littrell, Beatrice; Gary Kitt, Phil Settell, and Warren Mattes. White peau de soie fashioned the bride's sheath gown. Appliques of Venice lace cuffed the elbow sleeves of the fitted bodice, which was designed with a rounded neckline, and the lace was repeated on the slim skirt, completed by a petal overskirt of the silk extending at the back into a chapel train. An Elizabethan headdress of lace and pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried an arrangement of pale yellow orchids.

Both graduates of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Mr. and Mrs. Paine will continue their studies at the University of Missouri, where the bridegroom is studying for a doctorate in psychology. Mrs. Paine is a member of Willard sorority, Cardinal Key, Phi Kappa Phi and Pi Gamma Mu honoraries.

The Brides' Book

In prenuptial courtesy to Miss Merna Meyer, who will become the bride of Robert Valerie of Baltimore, Md., on Saturday, June 22, Mrs. Victor Krieser and her daughter, Miss Victoria Krieser, and Mrs. Rupert Bereuter were co-hostesses recently at a miscellaneous shower at the Krieser home.

Also entertaining for the bride-to-be recently was Mrs. Paul Oelschlager, who was hostess to a group of friends at a bridal shower at her home.

For the wedding, which will take place at 7 o'clock at Calvary Lutheran Church, Miss Meyer has named her sister, Mrs. James Busbee of Goldsboro, N.C., as her matron of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Victoria Krieser and Mrs. Paul Oelschlager.

Richard Valerie of Baltimore will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers will be James Busbee of Goldsboro, N.C., and Charles Meyer of Los Angeles, brother of the bride-elect.

A Saturday, June 22, bride-elect who has been the honoree at prenuptial courtesies recently is Miss Kay Rocke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph K. Rocke, whose marriage to Mark L. Owen of Arvada, Colo., will take place this morning at St. Teresa's Church.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Roger Rocke and Mrs. Jerome Rocke entertained for the bride-to-be at a dessert luncheon, to which feminine members of Miss Rocke's family were invited. During the informal party, a miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Harley Varga and Miss Pat Langdon of Omaha were hostesses on Thursday evening, June 13, in courtesy to Miss Rocke who was presented a personal shower following a dessert supper.

Mrs. Varga will attend the bride-elect as matron of honor for the 10 o'clock morning ceremony, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Langdon, and Miss Linda Owen of Arvada.

Serving his brother as best man will be Arthur Owen of Arvada, and the ushers will include Jerome Rocke, brother of the bride; and Charles Yates of Denver.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

There is nothing too unusual about a block party in suburbia, but when the party is dreamed up and carried out to the last detail by the youngsters along the street to honor one of the adults of the neighborhood—that's a different matter.

Honored on Wednesday evening and "crowned" King of South 39th Street between Lake and Smith was Karl P. Kubitschek, the benefactor and friend of every youngster on the block.

Mr. Kubitschek not only loves young people, but he's willing to have his leisure hours—and his lawn—completely absorbed by them. When he isn't busy treating the whole neighborhood to candy and ice cream, he's serving as a referee, umpire and rules authority—one neighbor counted nearly 50 youngsters in his yard recently.

So, Wednesday night was Karl Kubitschek Night, and the small fry, under the chairmanship of Mary Jo Manzitto, Janice Dare and Mary Ann Maixner, entertained the adults at a potluck supper and presented the honoree with a gilded paper crown and an ice cream bar.

Seated at the table (at left, front to back) are Bob Hansen, Harold Ziegler, Mrs. Ziegler, Mrs. Kubitschek, Mrs. Angelo Manzitto, and her two sons, and (standing) Mrs. Bill Dobler. Mr. Dobler is standing at left, and at right, clutching her straw hat is Janice Dare. Walking up the street with his plate for a refill is George Horst, and seated at the table at right (front to back) are Mary Jo Manzitto, Lisa Dobler, Roxanne Peterson, Julianne Mau, Mr. Kubitschek, and (standing, serving himself) Mr. Manzitto. The tables continue on down the street with the rest of the neighbors.

Party Was Farewell Courtesy

As a farewell courtesy to Julie Thompson who, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Thompson and other members of her family, leaves soon to reside in Cheyenne, Wyo., Anne Schuster entertained at a "splash" party and patio supper at her home on Thursday.

The guest list included the members of the honoree's Ma-lo-Le-sa Camp Fire group, and some of her St. Teresa classmates.

On the ladder is the guest of honor, and just back of her is the hostess.

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

We have little bits of news from here and there in Suburbia this morning, and one of those pieces of news comes from the Country Club Manor home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. O'Donnell, who had as their houseguests last weekend their son, daughter-in-law and grandsons, Mr. and Mrs. Howard O'Donnell, Tom and Stephen.

The visitors arrived on the Thursday preceding last weekend—but not together. That was because Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell were at that time in the process of moving their residence from Grand Rapids, Mich., to Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. O'Donnell and Tom and Stephen arrived from Grand Rapids, and Mr. O'Donnell from Phoenix. Following their stay in Lincoln they continued on to their new home in Arizona.

And Country Club Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Edie Gold must certainly be busy people these days, for they have been saying hello's, good-bye's, and doing some entertaining besides.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Gold entertained several Lincoln friends at luncheon and an afternoon of mah-jongg as the first of a series of such gatherings for which she plans to be hostess this summer.

In addition to luncheon guests, Mrs. Gold and her

In Town For Swingfest, Visit

Capt. (USN) and Mrs. William Ludwick had two reasons for coming to Lincoln this week—a visit with Capt. Ludwick's father, Dr. Ralph Ludwick, and his brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick, Jr.—AND the Swingfest.

Also coming from Chicago with Capt. and Mrs. Ludwick was Farouk, the Saluki, who isn't much interested in the Swingfest, but apparently is enjoying his Lincoln visit since he seems to be a model guest.

Capt. and Mrs. Ludwick have been, and will continue to be, quite busy with numerous family courtesies as well as the Swingfest activities.

Dear Abby

Just A Good Liar

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A certain handsome, gray-haired man in this town has never been married and claims he never will be. He would be a real catch for any woman. He boasts that he has had a fling with every attractive woman in town, before she was married. (And a few after.) He claims that they all have told him that he makes their husbands look like schoolboys. My theory is that anybody who brags like this is trying to cover up an inferiority complex. What do you make of him?

LOCAL GIRL
DEAR LOCAL: He's probably a better liar than lover. But as a "real catch for a woman"—I'd be inclined to throw him back in.

DEAR ABBY: What can I say to a woman who calls me on the phone and talks for over an hour? This happens four and five times a week. I try to end the conversation, but it does no good. I've used up all the excuses, like someone is at my door, or company just came in, but she keeps right on talking. My husband threatens to have the phone taken out. I shudder every time my phone rings. Sometimes I don't answer it. I've missed some important calls this way. I don't want to hurt her feelings. What can I do?

SORE EAR
DEAR SORE: The moment you pick up the telephone and hear her voice, say, "I'm sorry, I can't talk to you now"—then hang up. If you do this often enough, she'll get the message. Don't worry about hurting her feelings. If she's as brassy as you say she is, she'll call the next person on her list and talk HER ear off.

DEAR ABBY: We recently gave our lovely daughter a beautiful church wedding. It almost broke our hearts to learn that she is going to have a baby soon. She managed to keep it from us until after the wedding. She must feel terrible to have to face friends and relatives in this condition so soon after her wedding. We had looked forward to the day when we would become grandparents—but not this way. We are a respectable family, Abby. It is so embarrassing. What if the gossip starts? Tell me, for the children's sake as well as our own.

A LOVING MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter's lucky to have a husband. Count your blessings and tell 'em nothing!

For a personal unpublished answer to your letter, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

A defender grasps at every clue in order to overcome the natural disadvantage suffered by his side. He does not know, from looking at dummy's cards and his own, exactly what treasures he and his partner possess, while the declarer does know, from looking at dummy, his side's exact strength.

The competent defender avails himself of every possible source of information. He has not only the bidding to go on, but also the plays that have already taken place, whether made by his partner or the declarer. He can often draw highly accurate deductions by correctly interpreting any clues strewn in his path.

Here is a hand featuring fine defense. Declarer won the spade lead with the ace and played a low heart and finessed the jack. West took the queen and now had to find the proper play to defeat the contract.

Gauging the situation correctly, he returned the five of clubs! South was forced

Reunion
Banquet

The 10th annual banquet of the College View High School Alumni will be held Saturday evening at the Lincoln Hotel.

Former students at the high school, which was discontinued at the time Southeast High School was completed, are expected with representatives from many states as well as both the east and west coast areas planning to attend.

Don Svoboda, president of the Alumni Association, will preside at the program, and guest speaker will be Del Eno.

Farewells, Guests In Service Circles

BY SUE SUND

This evening Col. and Mrs. Herbert O. Hamilton will entertain in farewell courtesy to Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gerald Linscheid. Among the 40 guests will be Mr. and Mrs. James L. Gordon of South Orange, N.J., and Lt. Col. Linscheid's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Linscheid of Peru, Neb.

Last Sunday evening Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gerald Linscheid were honored at a canape party hosted by Capt. and Mrs. Howard O. Evans. Twenty-three guests gathered to bid their farewells.

Another in the long list of courtesies to Lt. Col. and Mrs. Linscheid is a patio party to be hosted tomorrow by Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Wagner. Guests invited for the canapes and buffet dinner are Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, Mrs. Lillian Bertram, Col. and Mrs. Herbert Hamilton, Col. and Mrs. Ashley Denton, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Warren Francioni, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harold Morrison and Capt. and Mrs. Stanley States.

Col. and Mrs. William Riggs and daughters, Kelly and Kim, took advantage of a long weekend to do some sightseeing. Their trip took them to Fort Robinson, Neb., then into South Dakota, where they visited Mount Rushmore and the Black Hills before returning to Lincoln.

Col. and Mrs. William Bartlett and their daughter, Mary Eileen, returned the first of the week from visiting at St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., where Mary Eileen will attend school starting September '64. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Diehl at Arlington Heights, Ill., and on the return trip the Bartletts stopped by Atlantic, Ia., where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Crabtree.

More news involving Col. and Mrs. Bartlett has to do with their house guest, Col. Bartlett's sister, Mrs. Kenneth VanBuren of Toledo, O.

The Officers Wives of the 372nd Bomb Squadron met at the Village Plaza Tuesday morning. Hostesses for the brunch were Mrs. Robert P. Hansen, Mrs. John Haley, Mrs. Ralph Utech, Mrs. Kenneth Horne and Mrs. Frederick Henry. Guests were Mrs. William Riggs, Mrs. Gerald Linscheid and Mrs. Glenn Lloyd. Three newcomers welcomed to the squadron were Mrs. Thomas Minow, Mrs. George Aaron and Mrs. Philip Battaglia. Prize winners included Mrs. Lynn Johnson, Mrs. Robert Delaney, Mrs. Allan Simpkins, Mrs. Thomas G. Minow and Mrs. Donald Desselle.

Capt. and Mrs. John Sakry recently spent a weekend at Offutt AFB, in celebration of their anniversary and birthdays. Joining them for dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ruh.

Mrs. Edward Gennaro honored Mrs. Roland Allen at a baby shower Tuesday afternoon at the Officers' Club. Guests were Mrs. Harold Stoeck, Mrs. Paul Foley, Mrs. John Zenuh, Mrs. Gordon Mode, Mrs. Henry Fisher, Mrs. Robert McIntyre, Mrs. Nick Saario, Mrs. Arthur Sorenson, Mrs. James Arthur and Mrs. Stewart Lambert.

Miss Gay Gribble, daughter of Col. and Mrs. James Gribble celebrated her 14th birthday with a patio-slumber party, on Wednesday evening. Enjoying the festivities were Diane Clements, Gwen Lightfoot, Mia Powers, Carol Bradshaw, Kim Riggs, Mary Sanders, Diane Hamilton and Sandy Beaudro.

Col. and Mrs. Clifford Moore enjoyed dinner Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Garwood Anderson and their family at Wahoo, Neb. Mrs. Anderson is Col. Moore's cousin.

Col. and Mrs. Moore will go to Omaha tomorrow to visit, and also say their farewells to Col. and Mrs. Walter Tkach. The Moores will be leaving Lincoln the end of June for Col. Moore's new assignment at Barksdale AFB, La.

Mrs. Robert Weidner hosted a dessert bridge yesterday afternoon in farewell courtesy to Mrs. Robert Ace. Guests were Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mrs. Hale Dodge, Mrs. Robert Kelly, Mrs. Al Masserini, Mrs. Gerald Linscheid and Mrs. James Drew. Mrs. Ace was presented a gift from the ladies.

A guest at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Billy Lyons is Mrs. Lyons mother, Mrs. Glenn Lloyd, of North Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Lloyd arrived Monday and plans to spend a week.

Capt. and Mrs. John Fenimore have as their guest Mrs. Fenimore's aunt, Mrs. Edna Hammond of Albuquerque, N.M. Mrs. Hammond is visiting in Lincoln on her way to Dayton, O.

The Officers Wives of the 345th Bomb Squadron held their monthly meeting on Thursday at the Officers' Club. Hostesses for the dessert coffee were Mrs. Harmon Brotnov, Mrs. Robert Thorpe, Mrs. Ricker Jones and Mrs. Charles Reynolds. Winning the prizes were Mrs. Ralph Klein and Mrs. Solomon Harp. There will be no coffees or bridge scheduled during the months of July and August.

Evening Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Mary Lynne Downard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Downard, and Cpl. Jerry M. Witherby, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent W. Witherby, took place Friday evening, June 21, at the College View Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Dean Hay read the lines of the ceremony at 7 o'clock, and Mrs. Robert Hollingsworth, organist, played the wedding music. Mr. Hollingsworth was the vocal soloist.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Barbara Fritchie, who was frocked in white lace and organza over blue taffeta. She carried a bouquet of white and blue-tinted daisies.

Serving as best man was Curt Kiner, and seating the guests were Ron Peet and Paul Witherby.

The bride appeared in a gown of white organza over silk taffeta, trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The long-sleeved basque was accented by a sabrina neckline, and the lace-appliqued skirt continued into a whisper train. Her illusion veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystal drops, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid.

Cpl. and Mrs. Witherby left for California where the bridegroom is stationed with the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton. He is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University and a member of Theta Chi fraternity. Mrs. Witherby attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Towne Club.

Fire Damage On USS Springfield Reported Minor

New York (AP) — Fire, believed started by sparks from a welder's torch, caused minor damage early Friday aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Springfield in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the Navy reported.

Council Bluffs Man Goes Berserk; Kills Boy, Wounds 3, Shoots Self

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — A berserk 22-year-old Council Bluffs man, Junior Tice, shot and killed a two-year-old child and wounded 3 other persons and himself Friday night in a wild shooting spree.

Police said the children and the woman were shot at the William Jackson home at 4047 Avenue G in the Bluffs.

This is the story according to early reports:

Tice went to the Jackson home to inquire for Mrs. Jo Ann Burtness, daughter of Mrs. Jackson.

He was told that Mrs. Burtness was in Omaha.

Began Shooting

That apparently angered him and with a 9-shot, .22-caliber revolver he began shooting at all persons in sight.

His shots killed two-year-old Randy, the son of Mrs. Burtness. Randy was hit in the face by several shots.

Wounded were 7-year-old William Perkins, also a son of Mrs. Burtness; 14-year-old Judy Jackson, sister of Mrs. Burtness, and 45-year-old Mrs. Jackson, mother of Mrs. Burtness.

William was shot in the face, Judy was shot in the stomach and Mrs. Jackson was shot in the side and back.

Ran From House

Mrs. Jackson ran from the house as Tice fired at the children and fell in a vacant lot where she was found by neighbors Robert Parker and Clifford Holding, who came from their homes to investigate the sound of shots.

Parker and Holding carried Mrs. Jackson into the Holding home, where she told them Tice had done the shooting.

Police were then called to the Holding home from where patrolmen Clarence Peterson and Ernest Gray proceeded to the Tice residence.

Shot Himself

Peterson said that he knocked on the door, then saw Tice retreating to the back of the house. Peterson ran to a side door and, seeing Tice in a bedroom, called to him to come out.

Tice called out "O.K." and then went into the kitchen and shot himself in the head.

Detective Richard Bechtel said Tice related at the hospital that he was despondent and "wanted to hurt Mrs. Burtness."

Sen. Lysinger Will Not Call Meeting On Training School

State Sen. Richard Lysinger of Ravenna said Friday night that he would not call for a meeting to discuss the Kearney Boys Training School.

Lysinger said he had not written a letter to William Stidham, a discharged employee and critic of the school's management.

Stidham has been quoted as saying that Lysinger wrote him indicating the senator's concern with problems at the school and indicating a Lysinger instigation of talks between all parties involved.

Lysinger said Friday, "I am not going to set up a meeting, and have had no plans to do so, unless (director of Institutions) George Morris feels it necessary."

The senator said he felt Morris "has the situation well in hand."

Lysinger said he had written a letter to Mrs. Clarence Marcus of Kearney in response to letters from her about the school.

"But I know nothing about Mr. Stidham, his situation or his friends," Lysinger said.

Lysinger said his letter to Mrs. Marcus did not imply that he would instigate a meeting to discuss the school.

Stidham was discharged Tuesday by William Ettinger, superintendent of the school, after Stidham had criticized Ettinger's implementation of a Stidham-favored discipline philosophy at the school.

Stidham charged that Ettinger implied personal disloyalty as firing grounds.

Ettinger said that "disloyalty to the program" was the reason for the discharge.

McKinney Chosen As Retired Employees' Head

Henry A. McKinney is the new president of the Lincoln chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees for 1963-64. James A. Proskovec is vice president and Glen E. Bean secretary-treasurer.

McKinney, 60, of Fremont, is a retired civil servant. He has been active in the association since 1958.

The association is a national organization of retired federal, state and local government employees. It provides a forum for the exchange of ideas and information among its members.

The Lincoln chapter has about 100 members. It meets monthly on the first Tuesday of each month.

Proskovec, 55, of Lincoln, is a retired civil servant. He has been active in the association since 1958.

Bean, 50, of Lincoln, is a retired civil servant. He has been active in the association since 1958.

For Starving Souls

To build this church, that is our job." With Christ as foundation, this group of men have pledged to build...to make more pews available for neglected souls. These men are stewards of the Most High, armed with resolution to "build a church for His name," for starving souls. Every extra hour and every spare nickel goes into this responsibility entrusted to this company of Kingdom workers.

These men are our neighbors. They are ministering to hungry souls...souls of boys and girls who need God. Souls of men and women whose wrecked bodies and warped minds need the healing, strengthening and comforting fellowship this church will give. Jesus said, "Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it." God's invitation to attend His Temples of Worship is addressed to you and yours. His invitation is eternal.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statisticians today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

PALMER RALLIES FOR TIE IN OPEN

Hayes Runs 9.1 In AAU Century

Nicklaus Out With 153; Arnie Fires Sizzling 69

... TIES CUPIT, FINSTERWALD

St. Louis (AP) — A pair of record-shattering 9.1 clockings by Florida A&M's brilliant Bob Hayes in the 100-yard dash and 3 meet records launched the 75th National AAU Track and Field Meet to a stunning start Friday.

A world pole-vault record claimant Brian Sternberg, University of Washington sophomore, set a meet record of 16 feet 4 inches, but failed in a try at 16-9. Sternberg has a world mark of 16-8 pending and previously also cleared 16-7 and 16-5.

Hayes was credited with a world record when he won his semifinal heat in 9.1, one tenth of a second faster than the existing mark. The husky Florida sprinter also was timed in 9.1 in the finals, but the time was disallowed because of a favoring wind.

Conditions were perfect, though, when Hayes sped to his 9.1 in the semifinals, bettering the world mark shared by Frank Budd of Villanova and Canada's Harry Jerome.

Ties High Hurdle Mark

A meet record was tied as Hayes Jones scissored to a 13.4 victory in the 120-yard high hurdles finals.

Hayes' 9.1 also smashed the meet and American record of 9.2 set by Budd in 1961. The other record mark came as Irish-born Pete McArdle of New York won the 6-mile in 28 minutes, 29.2 seconds, breaking the record held by a U.S. citizen in this event.

In the 7 finals contested Friday, three defending champions were dethroned, including Ron Morris who was among two others who also bettered the former meet pole vault record of 16'4" by clearing 16'2".

Hayes was cheered wildly by about 4,000 fans as his world record was announced after the 20-year-old's semifinal victory.

Less than 45 minutes later, in the finals, Hayes again hit the tape in 9.1, but this time was aided by a wind of 7.75 miles per hour, well above the maximum of 4.47 mph for record consideration. In Hayes' semifinal effort, the wind was only 2.2 mph and his 9.1 time was announced as a new world record.

The stands at public schools stadium were hushed as the 8 finalists lined up for the payoff dash. Hayes held steady during two false starts, by Paul Drayton, former Villanova star, and new NCAA century champion Larry Questad of Stanford.

When the field finally exploded from the starting blocks over the new rubberized track, Hayes was just streaking along with the pack for the first 40 yards. Then the muscular Florida comet began surging in front, lunging onto the tape by about two feet over the hard-pressing John Gilbert of the Southern California Striders.

Gilbert was clocked in 9.2, matching the erstwhile world record shared by Frank Budd of Villanova and Canada's Harry Jerome. Drayton was 3rd in 9.3; Willie Williams of Southern California Striders 4th, also in 9.3; Questad 5th, in still a 3rd 9.3 clocking; and Paul Winder of the U.S. Marine Corps 6th in 9.4 for one of the greatest 100 races in recent years.

Mile Disappointing

The two trials in the mile run failed to measure up to expectations as a field including 6 sub-4 minute stars failed to crack that once magical barrier. Lt. Cary Weisiger of the Marine Corps had the best time in the two heats for Saturday's finals, 4:03.2 with defending champion Jim Beatty taking second with 4:03.6.

The other heat went to Dyrrol Burleson, two-time AAU champ, in a slow 4:10.3. In this heat, 3 other sub-4 minute milers finished in this order: Second, Bob Seaman, 4:10.6; Jim Grelle, 4:10.7; and Chicago Loyola's Tom O'Hara, 4:10.9.

Champion Gary Gubner was dethroned in the shotput, won by Marine Dave Davis with a toss of 62-5/4, with Parry O'Brien taking second with 62-1/4, and Gubner 3rd with 60-5/4.

Ralph Boston retained his broad jump crown with a leap of 26-10, just 1/4 inches short of the meet record Boston set in 1961.

NU Players Arrive At Grid Camp

Buffalo, N.Y.—Dwain Carlson, guard; Bill (Thunder) Thornton, fullback; and coach Bob Devaney, all from Nebraska University, were among 30 players reporting to head coach John McKay of the West team, here Wednesday.

Carlson and Thornton will play for the West in the East-West All-America Football Game and Devaney will be one of the coaches on the West team, taking place here Saturday night, June 29, in War Memorial Stadium. It is the 3rd annual game, and is sponsored by the American Football Coaches Association.

McKay, head coach at University of Southern California, will coach the West and Milt Bruhn, of the University of Wisconsin, will be the head coach of the East team.

A crowd of more than 30,000 is expected.

Sikes, Lotz Advance To Links Finals

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — Dick Sikes of Arkansas and John Lotz of San Jose State won their semi-finals matches in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Golf Championship Friday.

Sikes defeated Pat Thompson of Texas, 5 and 4, while Lotz downed Jerry Potter of Miami, 6 and 4.

Sikes and Lotz will start their 36-hole championship match at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Sikes had held a 7-up lead after the morning round. In the afternoon match, he won only the 400-yard 6th hole with a birdie 3.

Extra Curves Added For Legion Game

The appearance of Nebraska's Miss Universe candidate will throw a few extra curves into the action tonight when Grand Island meets Roberts in a Cornhusker Legion League contest at 8 p.m. at Sherman Field.

Sandy Zimmer of Kearney will be in the first base coaching box for an inning tonight and her 38-24-38 measurements are expected to add to the incentive to get on base.

Judd's Midget team will meet Grand Island in a 5:30 contest tonight preceding the Legion game.

Sunday's Legion action at Sherman Field will pit Columbus against Optimists at 8 p.m.

Out-of-town games for the weekend include Optimists at Norfolk tonight and Roberts at Grand Island Sunday.

Gerry's foe tonight will be the Anheuser-Busch team from St. Louis, last year's national champion. Gerry's coach Dave Myers plans to throw his ace, Bob Hergenrader, against the St. Louis team.

Runnels Wins Titles

Pete Runnels of the Houston Colts won the American League batting championship in two of the last 3 seasons.

3 Tie For Top With 62 Score

... IN LCC SWINGFEST

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Three teams fired best-ball, handicap scores of 62 Friday to tie for the first round lead in the Lincoln Country Club Swingfest.

The team of Bus Whitehead of the Lincoln Country Club and Ken Pryor of Bartlesville, Okla., both of whom gained fame on the basketball court several years ago shot a 10-under-par 62 over the LCC course Friday morning, then watched as two other teams came in with afternoon totals of 62.

The two teams tying with Whitehead and Pryor were Bill Murrell of the Lincoln Country Club and Dick Herman of Omaha, along with Jack Wiedman of the Lincoln Country Club and Jim Bell of York.

Whitehead and Pryor shot a 33 on the front 9, but came back with a blistering 29 on the back 9. Murrell and Herman turned the trick in the opposite fashion with a 29 on the front 9 and a 33 on the back side.

Wiedman and Bell shot 30 on the front and 32 on the back.

Three other teams tied for the runner-up spot going into today's final 18 holes with a 63 total.

Dick Spangler Sr., teaming with Murray Longworth of Omaha, Wheaton Battey of the Lincoln Country Club, teaming with Bill Mitten of Fremont and Charles Boswell of LCC, teaming with Max Griffith of Kansas City, Mo., all came up with 63s.

The golfers will wind up the tourney today with a final 18 holes with half the field playing in the morning and the other half teeing off in the afternoon. All play is from a shotgun start.

All 3 of the leading teams will tee off at 8:15 with Whitehead and Pryor starting on Brookline, Mass. (AP) — Arnold Palmer staged another of his fabulous rallies Friday and shot into a tie with Dow Finsterwald and Jacky Cupit for the 36-hole lead in the National Open Golf Championship at even par 142 after defending champion Jack Nicklaus had blown himself out of the tournament.

The incredible Palmer, starting the day 4 shots out of first place, nailed two birdies on the back-breaking incoming 9 of the Country Club course for a 35-34-69.

Palmer's closest golfing friend, the cool, conservative Finsterwald, also fired a second round 69 — two under par — while Cupit, one of 5 golfing brothers from Texas, finished at 72 after blowing a chance for the unshared lead with a double bogey 5 at the 16th hole.

The biggest blowup, however, was experienced by the 23-year-old Nicklaus, who skied to an agonizing 77 after an opening round 76 for a 36-hole score of 153, 11 over-par.

Nicklaus Out

He failed to survive the cut, reducing the 150-man field to the low 50 players and ties.

The burly Ohio strong boy thus became the second champion in 63 of these blue ribbon classics to fail to qualify for the final showdown. Jack Fleck, the gaunt lowman who upset Ben Hogan in a playoff at San Francisco in 1955, lost out by a stroke at Rochester, N.Y., in 1956.

After turning in even par 35, Palmer rolled in a curling, downhill 10-footer at the nightmarish, blind 12th hole here — and pulled even with — his second straight birdie here — and pulled even with the leaders with a fantastic shot at the 365-yard 17th.

Here, the Latrobe, Pa., golf idol banged a beautiful drive down the left side of the fairway and, with the wind whipping across the course, laid a velvety wedge shot over the edge of the yawning trap to within 7 feet of the pin.

Francis Ouimet, the one time ex-caddy who beat the great English stars Harry Vardon and Ted Ray for the championship on this same course 50 years ago, witnessed the shot and exclaimed:

"What a beautifully controlled shot."

"Are you a member of Arnie's Army?" a stand-by spectator asked the graying, bespectacled star of another era.

"If that means do I enjoy watching golf like this," Ouimet replied, "I guess I am."

With the bulk of the 17,000 second day crowd stamping at his heels, Palmer closed his round with a hard-earned par. After splitting the fairway with a booming drive, he hooked his wedge approach into the wind and caught the left corner of the green, at least 45 feet from the pin.

Six Feet Short

He putted but left the ball 6 feet short. Then he sank it confidently for his 69.

As the tournament moved into its exhausting, double round climax Saturday, there wasn't a score on the board under par for the two rounds.

It was a victory for the historic, English-style course, with its 6,870-yards of wire-tough rough tricky knolls, peat bogs and puddin' rock protruding from many of the fairways.

Par is 35-36-71.

Two Tied For 4th

Behind the three pace-setters came bulldog Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mich., the former PGA champion, and Dean Refram, a 26-year-old ex-football quarterback from Medinah, Ill., tied at 143.

Refram, a pro of less than three years, latched an even par 71 to an earlier 72. Burkemo had the same figures, in reverse, 72-71.

Tied at 145 were Julius Boros, the 1952 champion, 71-74; handsome Tony Le ma, 71-74, and Davis Love Jr., the young club pro from Charlotte, N.C., 71-74. They were followed by a trio at 146-Australian Bruce Crampton, Bill Maxwell and Don January.

The cutoff point was 152, players with that score and better going into Saturday's finale two rounds.

South Africa's Gary Player, with 74-75-149, made it and former champion Gene Littler, with 75-77-152, barely sneaked in. For the first time in history, no amateur survived the cut. Dick Davies of Pasadena, Calif., 1962 British Amateur king, had the best amateur score-73-81-154. The reigning U.S. Amateur champion, Labron Harris Jr. of Enid, Okla., had 79-76-155.

Other Losses

Other casualties, besides Nicklaus, included former Open champion Jack Fleck, 153; Tommy Bolt, 153; Dick Mayer, 155; Cary Middlecoff, 158, plus such well-known pros as Bob Goalby, Nick Nagle, Gay Brewer, Joe Campbell, Stan Leonard and Johnny Pratt.

Nicklaus, the reigning Masters and Open champion and leading money winner of the year, saw his confidence and powerful game both explode before his eyes like a big, overtaxed balloon.

He couldn't drive. His usually flawless irons were missing their target and he didn't sink an important putt. His wedge failed him half a dozen times of the simplest of assignments around the greens — from bunkers and the frog's hair fringes.

Birdies

Cupit, 25, knocked in birdies of 20 and 10 feet on the 14th and 15th holes and came to the 16th, leading the tournament by two whopping shots.

Jimmy Clark, 41-year-old pro from Huntington Beach, Calif., made a strong charge at the lead but finished with a brace of double bogey 6s for a 74 and 148. He was one shot ahead of old Sam Snead, 51, who had 74-75-149.

Arnie Confident

Palmer was beaming with confidence when he appeared at the old curling rink which serves as press headquarters for his traditional interview.

"I have hit the greens real well in 36 holes and I have had only 5 birdies," he said. "I like to think I can get about 5 a round. So far, they have been real skinny."

Someone asked him about Nicklaus' change in driving style just before the tournament.

"Since it's short left field fence here," Arnie quipped, "I'm going from left to left."

Long Bob Gajda, the home pro from Bloomfield Hills, Mich., who was opening day leader with 69, proved a one-day wonder. He shot a second round 80 for 149.

Supreme Court Reverses On Land Condemnation Opinion

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reversed itself, setting aside a previous opinion and affirming the decision of the Sarpy County District Court in a land condemnation case.

Originally, the court ordered the trial court ruling reversed and the case retried.

The State Department of Roads requested a rehearing after the May 31 decision.

The case involved the highway department's condemning for Interstate right-of-way purposes land owned by Mrs. William Dillon of Sarpy County. She alleged the highway department appraised her land below market price.

The district court ruled in favor of the Department of Roads.

"In a condemnation action, when the evidence is conflicting, the verdict of a jury will

NU Professor Takes Arctic Summer Trip

Dr. Samuel B. Treves of 1716 B. University of Nebraska professor of geology, has left Lincoln for work on a scientific project in the Arctic this summer.

Dr. Treves

Accompanying him is John W. Boellstorff of 2419 So. 11th, graduate student at the University.

The pair will be in charge of studying bedrock geology on the east end of Greenland. They will return during late August or early September.

Greenland activities will center in the area of Lake Tasersiaq. The lake's former outlet will be sought to determine its geologic history and how glaciation changed the direction of flow of streams associated with the lake.

A 5-man reconnaissance party visited the Greenland area last summer to determine the feasibility of an operations base at Sukkertoppen, an isolated glacier of "temperate ice" which is subjected to above-freezing temperatures during the summers.

This summer, work will begin on algae and soils, with continuing reconnaissance on bedrock, climatology and glacial geology. Next summer it is anticipated that the major glaciology (studies of the ice formation) will begin.

Financing of the Greenland work is the Mereson Fund; by the Quartermaster Corps; by the Office of Naval Research through the Arctic Institute of North America, and by the National Science Foundation.

Ia.-Neb. Border Legal Aid Asked By 2 Landowners

Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer reported he has received requests from two Nebraska landowners asking his legal assistance in court against the state of Iowa.

The requests were filed in accordance with a recently-passed legislative resolution directing the attorney general to protect Nebraska citizens whose land along the Missouri River is being claimed by Iowa.

But, Meyer said, he has informed the landowners his hands are tied until the Legislature appropriates funds for this purpose. Meyer noted he must hire an attorney who specializes in border suits.

The appropriation, if recommended by the Budget Committee, will be contained in the Legislature's budget bill, the details of which are expected to be disclosed next week.

Meyer asked the Budget Committee earlier to recommend $30,000 be allocated to carry out the intent of the resolution.

The resolution was prompted when concern arose over lawsuits started by the Iowa Conservation Commission in Iowa courts to obtain title for the state to lands lending themselves to recreation development along the Missouri River.

State Sen. William B. Brandt of Unadilla, chief sponsor of the resolution, has said a 1943 boundary compact between the two states assured Nebraskans whose real estate was transferred to Iowa they would retain ownership under Nebraska laws and titles.

not be set aside unless it is clearly wrong," the Supreme Court's substitute ruling said.

"Upon a review of the case, we find the lower court trial was conducted without error."

Douglas County District Court was affirmed in part and reversed in part in a suit for recovery of past-due premiums on an insurance policy.

The action was initiated in District court by G. Bartling and Co. against Harris Truck Lines, Inc., for $1,113, allegedly due on a policy.

The district court ruled in favor of the truck firm. The high court reversed the case except that part where it was ruled the truck firm did not owe past due premiums amounting to $501.

Affirmed by the Supreme Court was a Douglas County District Court ruling in favor of Harry Geyer and against the Walling Co. over a contract dispute.

The Walling Co. claimed Geyer reneged on a contract for the purchase of protective coating for machinery.

Also affirmed was a Rock County District Court's ruling dismissing an appeal by Everett Satterfield to administer the estate of Homer L. Buell, deceased.

Bernard T. Buell, executor of the deceased's will, had successfully disallowed Satterfield's claim in county court. The district court refused to hear the case.

Douglas County District Court was affirmed in a ruling holding Gail Pruitt was not entitled to workman's compensation for a Nov. 2, 1959, back injury.

Pruitt brought the action against McMaken Transportation Co.

Agreement On Steel Spurs Stock Market

New York (P) — The steel labor agreement was a tonic for the stock market Friday and it made its best advance of the week. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 4.19 million shares compared with 4.99 million Thursday.

Steel's advance was pronounced in early trading and U.S. steel ended the day as the most active stock up 1/2 at 49.60.

But neither "Big Steel" nor most other leaders held their gains, the feeling among steel officials was that the agreement would prompt customers who have built inventories of steel as a strike hedge to cut their orders.

The Dow Jones industrial average made a low of 1,921.47.

Of 1,205 issues traded, gainers outnumbered losers by 653 to 343. Highs for the year totaled 69 and lows 10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 10 to 27.6 with industrial 11 to 27.6.

All of the 15 most active stocks advanced.

American Airlines, as well as Eastern Airlines, were active.

Losses taken Thursday on news that the Civil Aeronautics Board had tentatively ruled that airlines could not charge more for baggage.

Corporate bonds were mixed with rails and government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Criminal Lawyer Held In 'Murder For Profit'

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — A dogged investigation into the slaying of a St. Paul housewife insured for more than a million dollars took a sensational turn Friday when police arrested her husband, a St. Paul criminal lawyer.

T. Eugene Thompson, 35, was arrested at a summer home near St. Paul, about 2 a.m., after a Minneapolis man, already under indictment in the slaying, gave police a statement. The warrant charged premeditated murder.

"It was murder for profit," said Police Chief Lester McAuliffe. He added that Dick W. C. Anderson, 35, a Minneapolis salesman with a record of hard drinking, "admitted he committed the murder—and admits his entire part" in the killing.

Thompson appeared in municipal court at 2 p.m. Friday and demanded preliminary hearing which was set for next Friday. Judge J. Clifford Jones fixed bail at $100,000 which was not immediately furnished. Thompson was returned to the county jail.

The case is expected to be presented to a grand jury Tuesday.

Mrs. Thompson, comely 34-year-old mother of 4, was viciously beaten and stabbed in the couple's fashionable home about 8 a.m. March 6. Her children had gone to school and Thompson had left for his law office.

Bloodstains in the well-furnished, newly carpeted home indicated Mrs. Thompson had put up a struggle for her life. So savage was the beating with the butt of a pistol that the plastic grip on one side of the weapon dislodged. A piece from the cartridge magazine lock also was broken off.

The pieces, found in the home, led eventually to the arrests.

Mrs. Thompson also was stabbed in the throat. Surgeons trying to save her life found a paring knife blade in the wound. The handle of the knife, from the Thompson kitchen, was found in the home.

The victim could not name or describe her assailant when she stumbled to a neighbor's home. Her only words were "... a man." She died a short time later in a St. Paul hospital.

A Minneapolis man seeing a newspaper picture of the plastic pistol grip identified it as one he had fashioned for his luger pistol, stolen from him in a burglary.

Two men arrested for the burglary admitted they had stolen the pistol. They named a suburban St. Paul man as the receiver.

On April 19, police arrested Norman Mastrian, 39, former boxer, journalism student and college graduate, in his home in suburban St. Paul. A few hours later Anderson was arrested in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mastrian and Anderson, with Sheldon Morris, 34, former Minneapolis cab driver, were indicted by the county grand jury. All are being held in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Ramsey County attorney William Randall has described Anderson as the killer, and Mastrian, a one time client of Thompson, as the go-between. During the investigation, Randall and Detective Lt. George Barkley, head of the St. Paul Homicide Division, remarked they had 3 men locked up, with "the big fish" yet to be caught in what they called a hired killing.

Phone Company Gives Dividend Of 80c, Up 5c

A quarterly dividend of 80 cents was declared on common stock of the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co. at a meeting of the board of directors Friday. This is 5 cents over the quarterly dividend declared in April.

Quarterly dividends of $1.25 were declared on preferred and convertible preferred stock.

President Thomas C. Woods Jr. reported a 27% increase in the use of direct distance dialing over last year; 19% of the company's long-distance calls are now dialed direct.

Woods said indications are that there will be a slight increase of earnings for the first 6 months of this year over the same period last year.

LEONE FORMS GOVERNMENT

Rome (AP) — Premier designate Giovanni Leone Friday night announced the formation of a 22-member minority government of all Christian Democrats for this politically divided nation.

President Antonio Segni accepted the cabinet and also signed a decree dissolving the caretaker government of Amintore Fanfani.

The formalities put an end technically to Italy's 36-day government crisis, but did little to resolve the country's deep political confusion following the April elections in which Communists scored gains.

The strictly stop-gap cabinet must depend on the good will of parliament to let it survive. It will be able to handle routine matters—and be in office for President Kennedy's two-day visit scheduled to start June 30.

But to solve the nation's bubbling political crisis will require an alliance that can get legislation through the squabbles and bitter divisions of parliament.

Such a cabinet would depend on the good will of parliament to stay in office.

Christian Democrat leader Aldo Moro tried to form that kind of government, starting May 25. He wanted the same kind of opening to the left arrangement that governed for 20 months until last April's parliamentary election.

But a Socialist Party revolt forced him to give up the old center-left alliance was a coalition of Christian Democrats, Democratic Socialists and Republicans with Socialist support.

Flowers To Greet Red Cosmonauts

Moscow (AP) — Cosmonauts Valentina Tereshkova and Valery Bykovsky will be welcomed with a million flowers when they arrive in Moscow Saturday, Pravda said Friday.

The Communist Party newspaper reported the flowers are being flown to Moscow from the southern parts of the Soviet Union and Bulgaria. Pravda said the previous largest collection were 600,000 flowers for cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin in April 1961.
